I have been informed that trading and investing is risky; the majority of people who trade futures can and do lose money. All the trading that is done in the room is done in simulation. No real trading account in the name of MML Innovations, Inc. is being traded.

Therefore I have been advised to carefully study futures trading, to learn how to read the market data, and evaluate for myself the risk and benefits of any perceived trading or investing opportunity before I decide to open a trading account.

I understand that MML Innovations, Inc. is only encouraging me to educate myself and "paper trade", i.e. trade on a simulator, so that I can get the experience of what trading is like.

Like any other profession there is a substantial learning curve. There are no short cuts. I understand that successful trading requires taking responsibility for my personal actions. MML Innovations, Inc. and its affiliates assume no responsibility for my personal actions.

I Understand and Agree that if I decide to open a futures trading account, I do so at my own risk and I assume responsibility for any loss or gain. I understand and agree that trading can be very stressful. Losing money is very stressful. To be a successful trader you must learn to deal with your psychological and emotional response to stress. I understand and agree that I take full responsibility for my actions and blame no one else. I understand that MML Innovations, Inc. and its affiliates assume no responsibility nor will I hold them responsible, before anyone, for any negative consequence that may result from my personal choices and actions.

Past performance, real time for money or real time simulator is not necessarily an indication of future performance. MML Innovations, Inc. makes no representation that you will, or are likely to become successful.
